

Col. Edwin Aldrin in the landing module before the historic event. When he walked on the moon he was, of course, in full space suit, helmeted and wearing a back-pack.