

On the edge of the moon

A four-page report on man's pursuit of the moon is published with The Times today. Illustrated with photographs taken by the Apollo 10 astronauts who got back to earth last week, this special pull-out section looks forward to next month's Apollo 11 landing attempt as well as recording the stages of man's progress to the moon so far.

"On the edge of the moon" is in the centre of the front section of The Times today.
